WHAT THEY DID.

The Sum Total of What was Accomplished at the Last Territorial Legislature of Montana.

Of One Hundred and Thirty-one Bills Introduced, Fifty-eight Will go on the Statutes.

The New Voting Laws, Hunt's Gambling Bill and the Code Commission the Most Important Work Accomplished.

Below is given the result of the legis lature's labors for the last territorial session. Its work will not go down in history as a brilliant accomplishment, but never Moore's registration law and Kennedy's Australian voting system. The appointment of a commission to codify the has already rid Helena of a disgraceful cusiness, The fee bill introduced by Collins will undoubtedly satisfy the county officers. The Silver Bow delegation carried out its campaign promise to have the office of mine inspector created, but the effect of the law is yet to be seen. The boiler inspector law should have the effect of making a responsible set of engineers in Montana. All told, 166 bills and resolutions were introduced. Of these 70 were house bills and 61 council bills; 15 house resolutions and memorials and 20 house resolutions and memorials and 20 council resolutions and memorials. Of the bills of both houses 58 became laws. Thirty five of the number originated in the house and twenty three in the council. The governor vetoed only one measure— the bill making a criminal of a minor for entering a saloon. Eleven house bills were killed in the council and 17 council bills died in the council and it council and died in the house. Besides these a number of bills died in the hands of committees from both houses. The bills, their titles, and disposition are here given.

FINALLY SETTLED.

The Contesting Companies for the Much Talked of Jefferson Canon Reach a Conclusion.

The Northern Pacific Will Lay the Track and Pay for the Work Already Accomplished.

A Pair of Miserable Wretches Addicted to the Use of Deadly Drugs Will Probably go to Warm springs.

As previously announced, the Union Pa ific grading force which has occupied the Jefferson canon for the past two weeks was discharged by Chief Engineer Bogue on Thursday. This was brought about by a plan of settlement which was arranged clais of the contesting roads. The result is will immediately take possession of the canon and complete the grade already be gun. The Northern Pacific will pay to the Union Pacific the expense incurred in building so much of the grade as the latter building so much of the grade as the latter road has made in the canon. The compensation to be only what the expense would have been under ordinary circumstances. Another concession granted to the Union Pacific is an option for five years, giving it the use of twenty miles of the canon. If within the time specified the Union Pacific will build to the canon its right to the Northern Pacific's track will be perpetual. If not, the Union Pacific will have to make other arrangements.

The matinee will be the last perform ance of Musin in Helena. OBJECTS OF PITY.

The Pair of Cocosine Cranks to be Trie for Their Sanity.

But seldom are more miserable spec mens of humanity to be found anywhere than the pair which were sent to the coun ty jall Thursday charged with stealing. They go by the name of Nesbitt, Carrie and John. Several times before have the police been bothered with them, driving them out of houses when their antics and capers became such that they terrified their neighbors. The man is in his thirties and the woman has undoubtedly passed 25 years. To look at them is sickening. They are mere skeletons, clothed in rags. Their appetite for such drugs as opium, morphine and cocaine is such that at this stage they cannot do withsuch that at this stage they cannot do without them. They apply morphine and cocaine externally by use of a small glass injector, which is placed in an opening in the left arm or leg.

Many small empty bottles were in the bureau drawers, but nothing else. Give them morphine or cocaine and they are quiet, but as soon as its effect wears away they plead piteously for more, and if it is not forthcoming they soon begin to rave, grind their teeth, tear their hair and present a hideous sight to those who see them. Such has been their experience in the county jail, but out of humanity Sheriff Jefferis furnished them a small quantity of morphine. They had none during the night and this morning they will be taken before Probate Judge Howey, when their condition will undoubt-

THE MUSIN CONCERT.

The Musin Concert company was greeted and socially, who exhibited an enthusiasm members: The violin virtuoso, Ovide Shonert, planist and accompanist, the last named beginning the concert with Liszt's Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 6, and responding to a recall with a composition by his instructor, John Underner, called "Pleasant structor, John Underner, called "Pleasant Dreams." He plays with taste and skill, but last night was at a disadvantage because of the quality of the instrument. His accompaniments were played with excellent judgment throughout—something which cannot be said truthfully about many more celebrated players. Mrs. Tanner sang Proch's difficult "Air and Variations" skillfully and in excellent voice, and gave "Comin' Thro' the Rye" as an encore. Her second number, "Forbidden Music," by Gastaldon, showed her voice to excellent advantage, and the encore, "Ich liebe dich," was warmly applauded. Mr. Mockridge is a pleasing tenor, with excellent control of a voice of considerable range and power. His program numbers were "O, Vision Entrancing," by Goring Thomas, and "Come Into the Garden, Maud," each of which brought an imperative recall, to the first of which he sang the air from "Rigoletto," "La Donada e Mobile," and to the second "Com e gentil," from the opera "Don Pasquale." Mr. Mockridge and Mrs. Tanner sang two duets to the entire satisfaction of the audience.

Of course the star of the evening was Mr. Of course the star of the evening was Mr. Musin, whose violin playing improves even upon the quality it showed when he first appeared upon the American concert stage. He was on the program for three numbers, which, through the insistence of the audience, become seven. The first, a "Souvenir de Haydn," by Leonard, was supplemented by a delicious minuet by Bocherini, while his second, a double number itself and of his own composition, was followed first by the familiar and always popular "Carnival de Venice," by Paganini, while for a second encore he played a pizzicati from "Silvia," by Delibes. The Wienlawski "Aires Russes" was so brilliantly played that an encore from a less demonstrative audience than that of last night would have been inevitable. The encore was a valse de concert by the performer himself; and it can be said here that his compositions constituted as enjoyable features of the performance as those of the more famous composers.

The audience was not at all modest in its demands, considering the fact that it obtained twenty-one numbers instead of the was also a tolerant audience, because no riot followed the loud conversation of two male persons in the parquette during Mrs. Tanner's charming rendition of the Proch "Air and Variations."
